Pride Clark Pride Clark Pride Clark Pride

Today we dream; tomorrow we achieve. These words represent the feelings that have become a cornerstone for Clark students. In this year, when our alumni are gathering to form a strong association for the betterment of our school. They have even stronger implications. We see our dreams in every aspect of school life, and know that those dreams will help us achieve our goals.

ALMA MATER

Because we sing a song to Alma Mater.
Laudations from our hearts ring loud and true.
We know they echo far beyond the blue.
Oh glory is our school Joseph S. Clark.

Because we pledge of Alma Mater.
Loyal and faithfull we will be to thee.
Our lone like beacon lights through years will be.
Oh Glory is our school Joseph S. Clark.

Symbolic of the aims of Alma Mater.
Unfurled the banner of Crimson and gray.
Pre-served by our destiny we pray.
Oh glory is our school Joseph S. Clark.

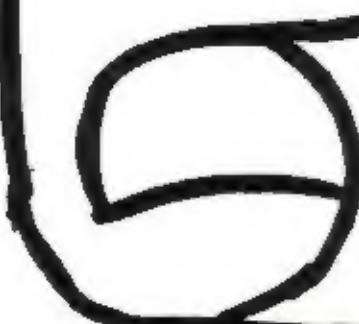

We the students of Joseph S. Clark Senior High School, take pride in our heroes of today. These are the kind of people we dream of becoming. We hope to achieve the same goals and standards that they have.

It is from our heroes, the alumni of Clark School, that we've learned the four essentials for achieving our goals. These essentials have been handed down from our ancestors and are perennial today.

Self-confidence is the first essential. The students at Clark believe in themselves. We believe that we can achieve anything with the strong confidence we have. No mountain is too high to claim. The second essential is self-pride. We take pride in everything we achieve, great and small. Intelligence is the third ingredient. We use it to put our confidence to work so that we can attain our goals of education and success. The fourth essential is dignity. We hold our heads up and walk with pride.

These are the things we give thanks for to those dextrous, prepossessing and intelligent heroes of Joseph S. Clark. We salute you, alumni, and congratulate you in all your achievements. You will always be the poignant spirit of Clark School. To you we dedicate the 1980-1981 yearbook. It is because of you we say, "Today we dream; tomorrow we achieve."

Representatives from among our illustrious alumni include Mrs. Shirley L. Williams, one of our teachers; Mr. Dennis Minor, our principal, and Mr. Alden McDonald, president of Liberty Bank.

Alumni from the class of 1971 include Mrs. Shirley Williams, Mrs. Janice F. Marmillion, Mr. Rodney Armstrong, Mrs. Lydia F. Hitchens, Mrs. Deborah J. Meyers, Ms. Cynthia Walters, Ms. Sonja Williams, and Mr. Gerald Emile.

Dennis C. Minor

Our Principal

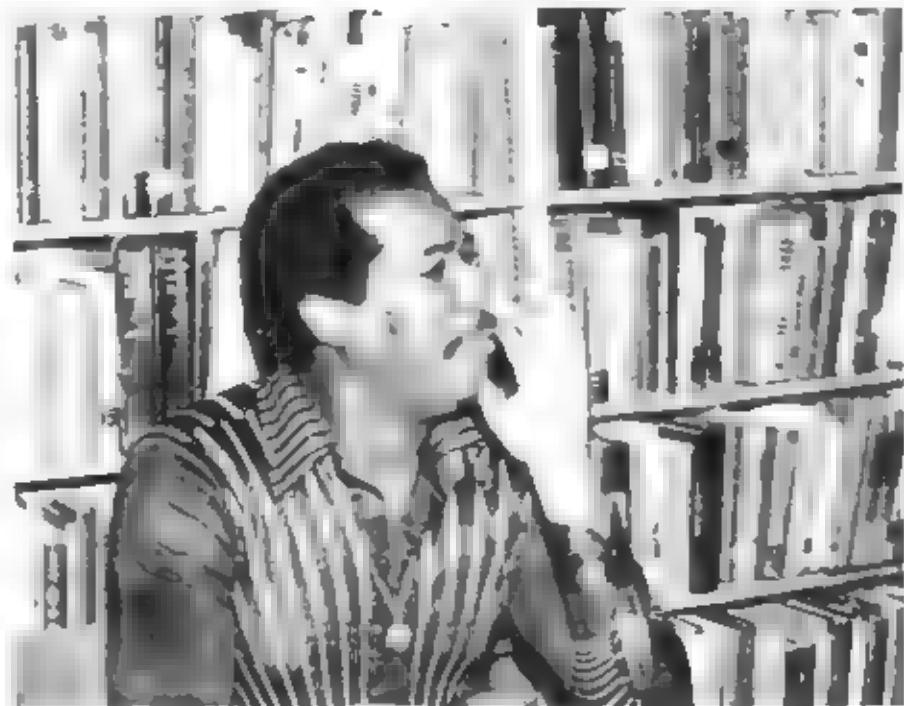

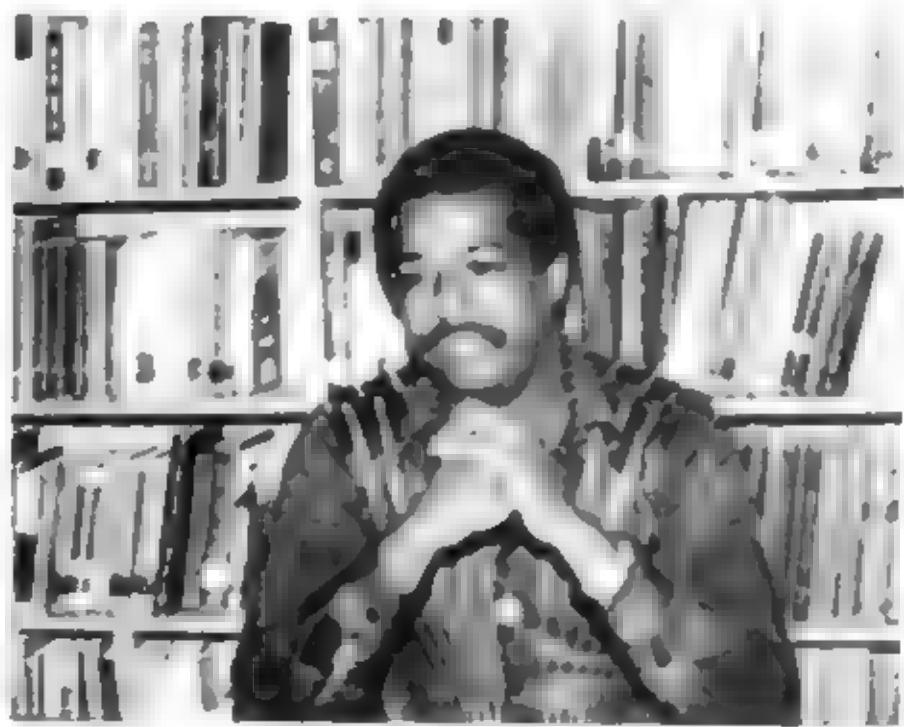

At Joseph S. Clark Senior High School, we believe that young men and young ladies of today, if given proper ideas and guidance, will become successful men and women of tomorrow. The ideas and guidance must, however, come not only from a good mind, but also from the ability of one to work with his hands in a particular skill, possessing enough wisdom and knowledge of his own capabilities to know when the best effort has been put forth.

Counseling at Joseph S. Clark Senior High School is both rewarding and challenging. It is challenging because of the various personalities that must be directed toward goals and objectives. This guidance includes goals and objectives of the school as well as the students' personal lives.

Counseling seeks to build self-esteem in students, helps them to become work oriented and career conscious. By the time students have reached this stage, they should be near, or have arrived at a final choice in their career planning.

Faculty Participates In Workshop

On a day when students were excused from classes, the faculty participated in a workshop. Designed to foster self-improvement, this workshop was on the use of Mastery Learning in classes. Working in small groups, the faculty wrote units to be used in their respective disciplines.

Staff members were also given information on new laws pertaining to Special Education.

Similar workshops were held periodically throughout the year.

Spirit Week

Homecoming this year was ushered in, as usual, by spirit week. Class recognition day started the week, as green sophomores mingled with red clad juniors and sophisticated seniors who sported black.

On another day we showed our maturity by "dressing-up". Fifties day brought back a long-ago era. Bobby socks, long skirts and baggy sweaters were the order of the day.

Undoubtedly the highlight of the week was the pep rally. The student body was entertained to a hysterical pitch as big, burly football players donned skirts and wigs to do a take-off on our cheerleaders. Everyone agreed that if they played the game as well as they played at being girls, we'd beat the hornets with no problem.

Hornets Go Home

Bulldogs Raid Hornet's Nest

It was the last game of the season. It was a double homecoming. Cohen was the home team. Spirits were riding high on both sides. Our court took the field before the game and from that point on, the Bulldogs were in full control of the day.

Our boys took the game with a 13 to 7 victory. Our girls showed how poised and truly lovely they are.

Partnership

At a special P.T.A. meeting, members attending, learned of a partnership that Clark School has entered into with Liberty Bank and WYLD radio station, both black owned businesses.

The highlight of the evening occurred when Judge Israel Augustine, accompanied by volunteer workers from his court, showed the students present how they could "get down."

These young men and women, however, really "got down," when they went on to prove that hard work brings results. They each described their backgrounds, similar to those of our student body and their present positions. They are all law students or practicing law.

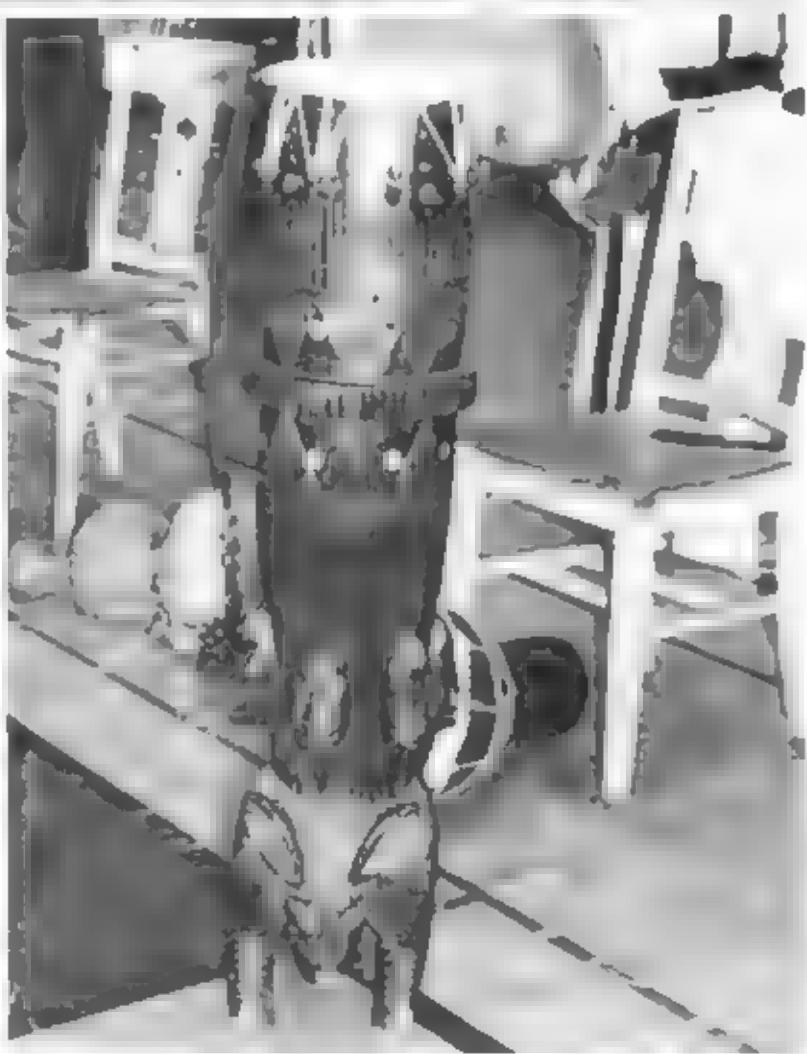

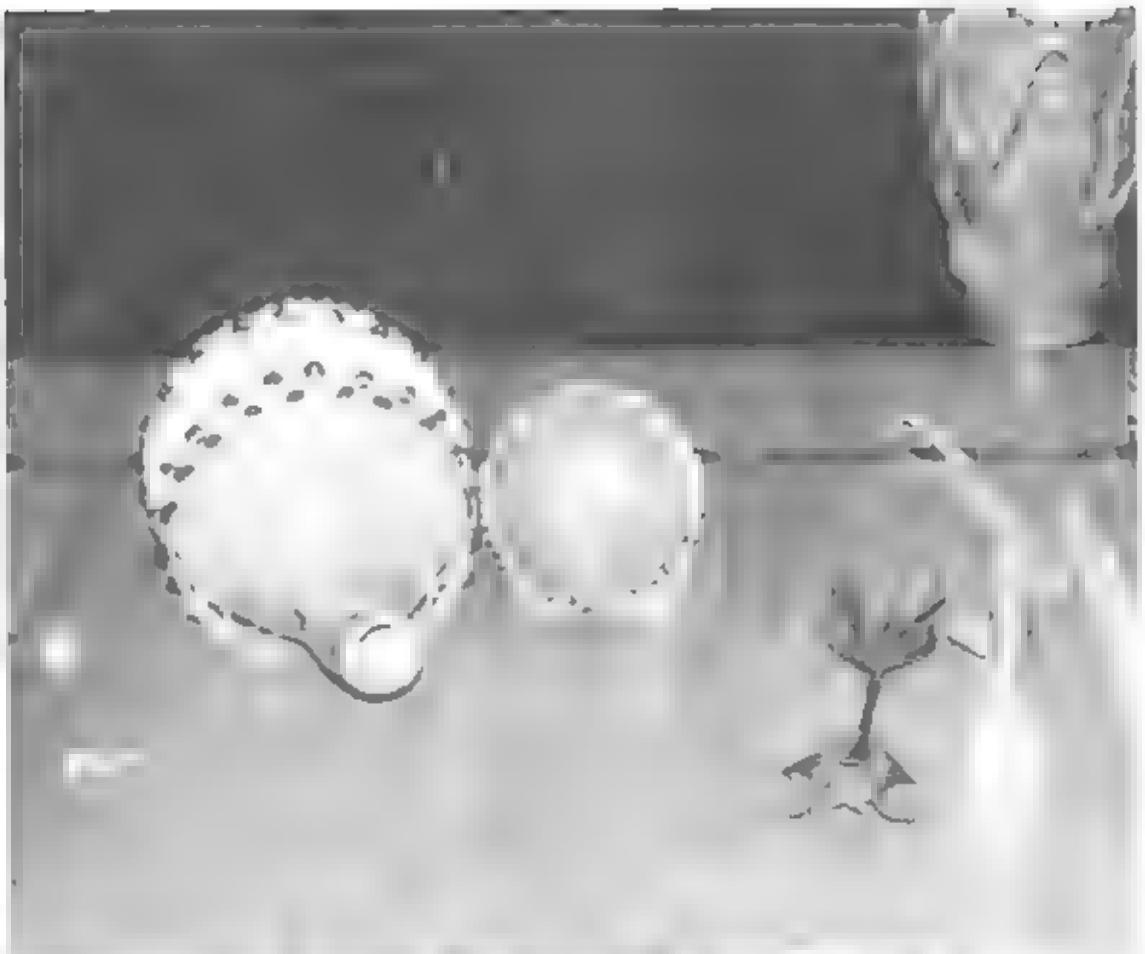

Ishangi Dancers

Once again the Ishangi dancers visited Clark. The student body was not only entertained, but had an opportunity to learn something of African culture.

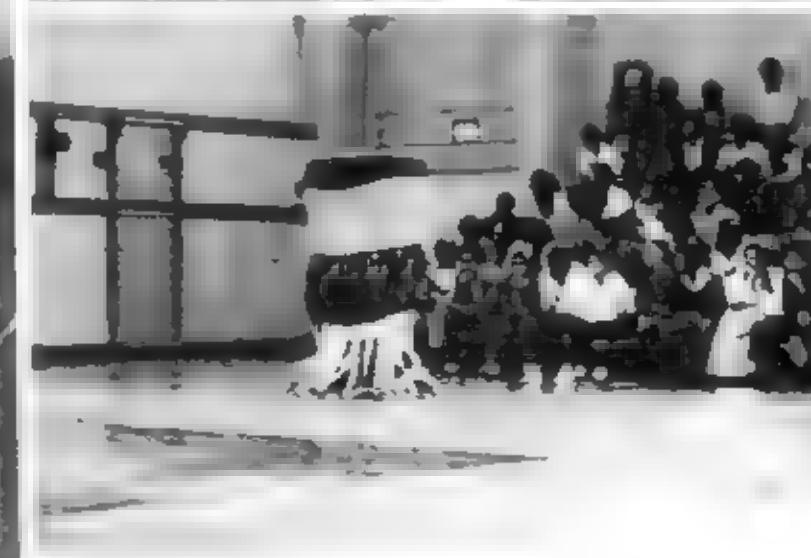

We learned of the respected place that woman hold among these people. We learned how the children are named by the father three days after birth, and that each part of the name holds special meaning. We learned of the various drums and their meaning in different ceremonies. Everyone was most impressed by the feelings of love and caring for each other exhibited by the groups.

Ishagi Dancers

Ishangi Dancers

Christmas Program

The student body was royally entertained just before the Christmas holidays. The music department, including the band and the choir, presented a selection of music befitting the season.

We were also treated to excerpts from "The Nutcracker Suite" performed by a young dance troop brought to us by Mrs. Butler.

The drama club, directed by Mr. Wilson, put on a play in which they depicted Christmas as observed by a poor family, a middle class family, and a rich family.

Everyone left for the holidays in high spirits thanks to the hard work of all those involved.

It seems that some people can't pass a camera without striking an exotic pose or making a face. The idea of being immortalized somehow brings out the ham in the best of us. Here are some typical examples of camera clowns.

Creating a yearbook that would be memorable to everyone was a task that was not always easy, but it was worth while. I wish that everyone who looks through these pages would consider the hard work, time, and effort that was put into it to make it most enjoyable. This book is not just a collection of pictures, but it is also memories that were shared by all members of the bulldog family – memories that will last a life time. I hope that we captured your favorite reflections.

And so we come to the end of our dreams. We will continue to dream and hope that we can achieve the stature of those who have gone before us. With so many role models to look up to, we know that we will achieve tomorrow.
